Hey Lynn,

Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy

I was able to get Paul and Dan Feezor to provide several pieces of data related to NCC sampling and other location information to move things forward with our Conceptual Site model web map and to start thinking about products to present the results of the Pyrolysis study.

Additionally, Justin and I finished off the IMP comment letter.

It appears that Justin and Brad were able to verify that the existing Sediment Sampling QAPP will allow us to take additional samples and a path forward for how to do that. I haven't drafted the letter asking the RPs to take additional samples yet but that will be my first task Monday morning.

Let me know if there are any questions and have a great weekend,

Tom
